The peoples do not demand the impossible and no one has the right to confiscate their will. But it is politics, a practice that is constantly manipulating the capabilities of the nations and never ceasing to circumvent and create all problems?

Perhaps because the tendency of despotism is an instinct in humans, and that the conflict is written on humanity in the logic of controversy of life and permanence .. As for History; it has no more than the record of facts to leave to us the hallmarks of the great, especially the kings out of them.

Here we stand on the brink of our existence to look forward, leaving what we can not absorb to record our civilization page in a way that is odd from the familiar which we have covered with myths and the magic of the formulation of the lie. In our time, the laws of dreams have changed.

The sacred has lost its standard of measure and is no more than a political agent .

As for the story of deception, it did not end with Egypt, in which the people of Israel grew up, and later they moved to Sinai. Then the journey continued after the loss to enable the chosen people of God settle on the Promised Land.

As part of a historical series separated by the books of the Old Testament in a priestly manner, the blood of many of the people who were grazing in the hills and plains of the Middle East, the issue of the conflict between Jews and Arabs is like a civil war for those who study its historical complexity and does not live further than that. The issue of the establishment of the State of Israel is no more than the independence of a sectarian component whose populations have been gathered from within the inside and outside the region.

This is the difference that summaries the dualism of the Jews as a religious community or the Jews as a people represented by the State of Israel now, and the State of Israel still lives a double duality being a liberal democratic state or a Jewish religious state ?? This duality is not limited to Israel, but includes most of the countries surrounding it.

They are politically contradictory and inexperienced hybrid systems which fluctuate within their inside since their establishment by the superpowers.

There is no doubt that the great powers did not emerge from the Middle East, despite the series of military coups in the countries of the region and the accompanying deceptions of independence arranged by large countries by recruiting their agents of the rulers who are able to play the shameful roles of fake heroism, the roles during which they conducted series of wars which details and facts are replanted accurately as per its facts and the results required of them within a long-term strategy that the region is still witnessing disasters with its results,

The fact that it exposes itself like full moon is the lie of the independence of the countries of the Middle East, including the State of Israel, outside of this fact we will understand that all conflicts are involved in the range of taming the peoples and exploiting them by a long-term Western strategy aimed at achieving a global order based in the Middle East.

To put it more clearly, there is no government with an independent will except to the extent that it allows it within an area that allows governments to deceive their people, If we look at the Arab-Israeli hostility record, we will discover that all the Arab rulers have a strong relationship with Israeli leaders even before the declaration of Israel as a state starting from King Faisal bin Hussein of Mecca to every Arab ruler who was installed to run the rule in the Arab countries.

Perhaps it would have been more appropriate for the decision-makers not to involve the Arab peoples into the irony of hostility and confrontation with the State of Israel and to start from the beginning the normalisation of relations ,this is if the goal was to give the Jews a homeland with symbolic borders that do not exceed what was Samaria and Judea before the Babylonian captivity, but the policy projects differ and their realisation requires stages and agendas for each stage in preset details and scenarios that are implemented or represented on the ground ... Absolutely no problems among peoples,

The Iraqi and Egyptian who were victims of political hassle against the British occupation were and still dream of living in London under the shades of the old crown of the kingdom, but they in turn refuse to be domiciled as a slave to the deity of English ethnicity in his homeland. He, too, is the Jew who was denied the journey of loss and historical alienation, while he is gathering his savings dreaming in his beloved Jerusalem in hope to stand before the remaining wall of the temple, which proves his identity and human glory.

Indeed, the divine wisdom testifies the stupidity of human beings and their neglect of the mystery of the convergence of the three monotheistic doctrines. In Jerusalem, the temple of Solomon lies under the ruins of history, and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher conceals her face from the splendor of the Virgin Mary, in Jerusalem, the Dome of the Rock, with its echo, amplifies the call for prayer of Al-Aqsa Mosque.

As for hills and plains, they tell the stories of humanity with the splendour of the horses' neigh of peoples who hugged with swords, who some of them leave and others remain.

Even today and since the displacement of Jews from Mesopotamia plus looting their money and the confiscation of their property they are still strangers in their migration and long with nostalgia to that country, which fails to defend the authenticity of their existence and belonging against the malicious schemes of colonial policy.

The story did not end with the Jews of Iraq or the rest of its components which torn apart in the details of a tragedy that is still going on and will remain unless global terrorism stops in all its forms and colours that paints the horror on the walls of politics, When do western politicians realise that migration that threatens their social fabric and bombards them with human bombs is a hand-made act in response to what they commit of acts against the peoples of the Middle East? The wrong policies are followed by disasters, nothing stabilises without equilibrium and peace can only be achieved through justice.
